

Providing your Power of Attorney (POA) or Financial Management Order to Challenger

You should read this before you send us your Power of Attorney (POA) or Financial Management Order.

About POAs and Financial Management Orders

A POA and Financial Management Order are legal documents that allow one or more people to act on the behalf of another person for certain purposes. Please note: it is your responsibility to ensure your document complies with the laws that apply to the state, territory, or country in which the authority was executed.

- A General Power of Attorney allows you to act on behalf of another person whilst they are still able to make their own decisions. While an Enduring Power of Attorney (EPOA) allows you to act on behalf of another person even if they lose the ability to make decisions for themselves. At times a medical certificate may be needed. Refer to your EPOA to understand if a supporting document is required.
- A Financial Management Order is a legal document that allows another person to make financial decisions in place of the investor. This person is generally known as the Financial Manager. A different title may be used for the relevant state or territory in which the authority was drafted and executed.

Making financial decisions on behalf of someone else

When making financial decisions on behalf of another person, it is important that you have the right authority to do so under a POA or Financial Management Order.

The appointed attorney or financial manager has a duty of care to ensure decisions made are in the best interests of the investor. Challenger reserves the right to make enquiries on any applications or requests it receives from the attorney(s) or financial manager(s).

A beneficiary nomination under a POA

Before making a beneficiary nomination for a Challenger product under a POA, please read the Challenger POA Guide which sets out our understanding of the POA laws as at the date of the Guide.

This guide can be found at challenger.com.au/-/media/challenger/documents/guides/poa-guide.pdf

Who can certify documents?

There are many people from different professions who can certify that a copy of a document is identical to the original.

This includes professions listed below. For a more comprehensive list, please visit

What you need to send us?

For a POA or Financial Management Order to be recognised by Challenger, we require the following:

- the Power of Attorney & Financial Management Order Details form completed
- a certified copy of the original POA document or Financial Management Order, including any supporting documents
- if you're not an existing customer, a certified copy of an identity document (ID) for the appointed attorney(s) / financial manager(s). Accepted ID includes current driver's licence, current passport or proof of age card

If you are submitting identity documents that are not certified, you will need to provide copies of the front and back of the documents. More information on our verification process can be found on page 2 of the Power of Attorney and Financial Management Order Details form under Section 3. Declarations.
